Things Found in Baw Sugar. I had read that sugar refiners used bullocks' blood to clarify the liquor, and in my simplicity a ked my friend where was the bullocks' blood He laugh d very heartily at my ignorance, and told me there had not been such a thing used in Greenock since he had known anything about the trade, now over thirty years. What struck me most was the sand and mud that my field showed me had been taken out of therax sagar when I saw it fille ed; and I that day registered a vow that I would never again be compted to buy "real raw sugar" for domestic use. I shudder as I think of the quantity of mud that I must have cated to my time, and feel annoyed at having been douted into paying a penny a pound more for the "real raw sugar" than I could have be unt the pure refined article for. I told my friend what was passing through my miod, at which he again tauched, and said: "Every one that somes to see through the re-ficery says the same thing. You sometimes hear gree its charged with putting sand in their sugar. They really do nothing of the ser. It would not pay them to do so, even if they had a mind. If the use of raw sugar were given up by the pubic, we would never again hear of such an accusation against the poor gree r.' My friend, seeing the disgust I had displayed at the sand and mud, took me to the laboratory in connection with the refinery, where he said ne would show me even worse than mud in the raw sugar. He took a small glass vessel like a tumbler, into which he put a teaspoonful of "real raw sugar," such as is sold in the shops, and then poured some water slightly heated over it. In a short time little specks appeared on the surface, scarcely visible to the naked eye, two or three of which he placed under a microscope and bade me look through it. To my amazement I saw little insects like lice crawling about. I asked what they were, and was told they were the Acarus succhari, or raw sugar mire, and that they abound in raw sugar more especially in the better descriptions. I asked if there were none to be found in refined sugar, and my friend sad so; that they were all either retained in the filter bays or killed during the boiling. I understand a orlebrated opemist country by a candid criticism of men and events has estimated that there will be as many as 100,000 of these creatures in a pound of raw sugar, I learned that there were about a dezen refineries at work in Greenock, turning out about 250,000 to 300,000 tons of sofs, refined sugar per annum, being more than a third of

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE.

-1881-

The ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE, begun in 1799, is the oldest newspaper in the State, and the only daily published in Northern Virginia. It has survived, with few exceptions, all the public presses in America which saw with it the dawn of the nineteenth century. It lives, too, not in decay, but full of life and vigor, giving all the news, telling the truth without fear, favor or affection, trenching on the privacy of no man's home, but full to the brim with all public information, and giving daily honest judgments of public mon and public measures.

It furnishes the news telegrams of the New York Associated Press and of Reuter's European agency, being, with but three exceptions, the only paper between Baltimore and Richmond that is thus connected with the great fountains of the

With the coming year all the long tried and improved methods of making a standard newspaper will be continued, with such additional facilities as past experience justifies the proprietor in believing will add to the capacity of the Gazette to serve its readers. It expects to render faithful service to the city, the state and the in the in erest of the people of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

To meet all the demands upon it, the Gazette will be made a WASHINGTON and RICH-MOND NEWSPAPER, as well as an ALEX. ANDRIA JOURNAL. The Richmond and Washington news of past years has left little to improve, but yet greater effort will be made to insure absolute perfection in these departments,

The city of Alexandria will find as usual its daily history in each evening's issue, and the intelligence of that section of the Commonwealth which nature has bound to Alexandria by the curvature of its mountains or the courses of its rivers as well as that portion linked to us by the iron bands of railways, will be assiduously

The Business and Commercial columns of the Gazette will be filled with the earliest and most exact commercial news, edited with such painstaking care as will render an error, where even slight errors are dangerous, impossible.

The Cattle Markets of all the leading points of the world whose rates affect this market will be quoted, and regular statements of the Baltimore, Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria sales of cattle will appear.

The Flour, Grain and Produce movements will be noted daily, and the sales of the Alexandria and neighboring markets given with accuracy and dispatch. The Grocery and other markets will receive constant attention, and the money or stock markets of the country epito mized for its columns, full details being given to all stocks, &c., which find investors in this

The advertising columns of the Gazette offer inducements which experience has shown to afford greater returns for a small investment than any other which can be made.
